PRESIDENT'S CORNER

SAEA Presidential Column, September 2008

Trust you are finalizing your paper, poster and/or symposium proposals to be submitted for our upcoming SAEA meetings to be held in Atlanta. The Executive Committee is continuing the numerous preparations for the 2009 meetings and we sincerely hope to see all of you next January 31 – February 3 at the Westin Peachtree Plaza, which will provide all of our meeting space/rooms. Note the deadline for submitting proposals for selected papers, posters, and symposia must be submitted by Friday, September 19, 2008. For detailed information and instruction, consult the June 2008 newsletter located at: <http://www.saea.org/docs/2008/june08.pdf>. FYI, the web link for submissions is: <http://editorialexpress.com/conference/SAEA2009>. General meeting and conference information can be found on the SAAS website at: <http://www.saasinc.org/2009-Atlanta/09-MainPg.asp>. Our SAEA meetings will also be held in the Westin Peachtree Plaza with lodging available at this hotel ($144 single or double, $164 triple or quad). Please note the hotel's reservation deadline is Friday, January 16, 2009.

At the 2009 meetings, SAAS is initiating a "new" series of multidisciplinary sessions with the proposed title of "Spotlight or Stoplight: Alternative Energy, Bioenergy and Agriculture." The kickoff session is scheduled for 3:30-5:00 p.m. on Sunday, February 1 followed by an additional 3-4 track sessions on Monday. The SAEA will be conducting one of these tracks Monday afternoon at 1:15 as an Invited Paper session. H.L. Goodwin, our Past President, has provided leadership to SAAS in organizing these efforts to promote multidisciplinary collaboration on important and timely topics. It is hoped that these sessions will foster future collaborations among the SAAS disciplines. Please join me in thanking H.L., University of Arkansas, for tackling this difficult task.

As we "enjoy" this election year, please remember that SAEA will also be electing a President-Elect and Board member to begin serving during 2009. This newsletter contains biographical information as well as election "platforms" for each of the four candidates that graciously accepted the nominating committee's invitation to offer their names on our ballot. Please find these candidates, including voting instructions, in this newsletter and make plans to "exercise your right to vote." My personal thanks goes to our officers and board candidates for their willingness to serve the SAEA: Michael Reed, University of Kentucky, and Michael Wetzstein, University of Georgia for President-Elect; Deacue Fields, Auburn University, and Jayson Lusk, Oklahoma State University for Directors on the Executive Committee.

Last, there is a listing of almost 60 names of our colleagues who are volunteering their time and talents to serve on the various SAEA and JAAE committees in this newsletter. Please join me in recognizing the contributions each of these dedicated members are making to accomplish SAEA goals and objectives. Thank you for your continuing support of SAEA. Hope to see all of y'all in Atlanta.

Sincerely,

C.W. "Bill" Herndon, Jr.
SAEA President

ACADEMIC QUIZ BOWL COMPETITION AT THE SAEA ANNUAL MEETING IN ATLANTA IN 2009!!!

Attention Undergraduate Coordinators and Advisors! Once again, the SAEA will sponsor an Academic Quiz Bowl at the 2009 meetings in Atlanta, Georgia. Please consider bringing your students to this event! Bring one or bring 20, it does not matter; every student that you bring will be placed on a team! The Academic Quiz Bowl is an excellent opportunity for your students to participate in the annual meetings, and to network with both fellow undergraduates and faculty from throughout the southeastern U.S. We will also organize a Graduate Program Recruiting Fair for Quiz Bowl participants. Entry forms are posted on the SAEA webpage and included in this Newsletter. The tournament will begin at 8:00 am on Sunday, February 1, and continue through Monday afternoon, February 2, 2009. Contact Michael J. Best, Ph.D., College of Agriculture and Human Sciences, Tennessee Technological University, P.O. Box 5034, Cookeville, TN 38505; phone: 931-372-3154, fax: 931-372-3899, Email: mbest@tntech.edu if you have questions.

Attention Department Chairs, Heads and Graduate Program Coordinators! The organizers of the Undergraduate Academic Quiz Bowl, with the support of the SAEA Executive Committee, will host a Graduate Program Recruiting Fair in association with the 2009 Academic Quiz Bowl tournament in Atlanta, Georgia. Refreshments and a sitting area will be set up in the foyer next to the Quiz Bowl tournament room. Departments setting up displays and recruiting at this event will be charged a registration fee to support the cost of refreshments. There are typically 50 undergraduates in the Quiz Bowl and many of them are interested in attending graduate school. This will be an excellent opportunity to recruit from a captured audience – every student will be competing on Sunday and Monday, and many will be available between matches to talk to faculty about graduate programs. Contact: Michael J. Best, Ph.D., College of Agriculture and Human Sciences, Tennessee Technological University, P.O. Box 5034, Cookeville, TN 38505; phone: 931-372-3154, fax: 931-372-3899, Email: mbest@tntech.edu (backup contact only: James Sterns, University of Florida, jasterns@ufl.edu or 352-392-1826 ext. 222).

Student Reception on Monday night!! – New

All graduate and undergraduate students are invited to the reception on Monday night, February 2, 2009. The reception will follow the Business Meeting and will start at 7pm in a room next door. All department representatives participating in Recruitment Fair are also invited.

SAEA PRESIDENT-ELECT NOMINATIONS

Michael Reed is Professor of Agricultural Economics and Director of International Programs for Agriculture. Reed holds a Ph.D. in economics (with a minor in statistics) from Iowa State University (1979), a M.S. in economics from Iowa State University (1976) and a B.S. in economics from Kansas State University (1974). He has been at the University of Kentucky since 1978.

Research: Reed's principal area of research and teaching is international trade in agricultural products. His research includes the effects of macroeconomic policies and exchange rates on U.S. food exports, the dynamics of consumer demand in various countries, and the effects of competition patterns on world agricultural trade patterns. He has served as director for 23 M.S. theses and 28 Ph.D. dissertations during his tenure at U.K. He has over 50 refereed journal articles and a published textbook from Prentice-Hall entitled "International Trade in Agricultural Products." He was the director of the Center for Agricultural Export Development at U.K. from 1988-1995. He has been principal investigator on externally funded projects totaling more than $4 million.

Teaching: Reed has taught the following undergraduate classes: Introduction to Agricultural Economics, Agricultural Marketing, International Agricultural Trade, Agricultural Price Analysis, and Macroeconomic Concepts in Agriculture. He has taught the following graduate classes: Advanced International Agricultural Trade, Quantitative Methods in Agricultural Economics, and Advanced Topics in Agricultural Marketing and Trade. He served as director of undergraduate programs from 1991-1993 and director of graduate studies from 1997-2002. He is currently in his second stint as director of graduate studies.

Professional Service: Editorial Council, Agricultural and Resource Economics Review, 2008 -
Editorial Council, Southern Journal of Agricultural Economics, 1983-86.
Editorial Council, North Central Journal of Agricultural Economics, 1986 - 1989.
SAEA Lifetime Achievement Award Committee, 2007 –
Reviewer for the JAAE/SJAE and SAEA meetings, various years.
Reviewer for the AJAE and AAEEA meetings, various years.
Executive Committee Member, Southeastern Consortium for International Development, 2006 –
Board Chair-Elect, Southeastern Consortium for International Development, 2008.

Honors: Doctor Honoris Causa (Honorary Ph.D). Bucharest University of Agricultural Sciences and Veterinary Medicine (Romania). 2007.
Honorary Fellow, University of Craiova (Romania), 2007
Marquis' Who's Who in America, various years
Marquis' Who's Who in American South and Southwest, various years
Marquis' Young American Men and Women of Science, various years
Outstanding Article in the Journal of Agricultural and Applied Economics, 2002

Changes/New Initiatives: I would like the SAEA to continue its move toward matching the association's activities with the needs of its membership. As SAEA achieves this it will not only keep its members satisfied, but also attract new members. The major activities are the publication of the JAAE and hosting of the annual meeting. I want the JAAE to continue to improve its turnaround on manuscripts so that authors can see their work published in a timelier manner. I also support the continued improvement in the quality of manuscripts accepted, even if that means a smaller journal. The SAEA meetings should be of such high quality that our membership must attend them. I would like to see the sessions move toward demand-driven topics (what our members want), rather than be simply supply-driven (what papers our membership submits). Moving toward more themes, tracks, and other sessions that are topical would help attract professionals (especially extension professionals) to the meetings to hear the discussions and presentations. Better integration with existing regional research and extension projects would make the meetings more important and relevant. With budgets increasingly strained, I would like to see the SAEA continue to look at its cost structure so that the membership is getting the most value from their investments.

Michael E. Wetzstein, Professor, Department of Agricultural and Applied Economics, University of Georgia. Ph.D. (1978) and M.S. (1974) Agricultural Economics, University of California, Davis; B.A. (1972) Economics, California State University, Sacramento. Fulbright Scholar (1992-1993) Czech and Slovak Federal Republic.

SAEA Activities: Editor of the Journal of Agricultural and Applied Economics, 1995-1998. SJAE/JAAE journal articles, 14, and numerous SAEA selected papers. Three graduate student advisees awarded the SAEA Outstanding Graduate Student Paper. SAEA committees: Ad-hoc committee on SAEA Recruitment and SAEA Outstanding Master's Thesis Award committee.

AAEA Activities: Editor of the American Journal of Agricultural Economics, 2000-2001. Chairs: AAEA Membership Committee, AAEA Quality of Research Discovery Award, and AAEA Selected Papers Committee.

Research: The primary research focus centers on applied microeconomic theory with emphasis on natural resource and environmental impacts upon agricultural production systems. Objectives are to employ microeconomic theory in conjunction with biological systems to increase the understanding of natural resource and environmental impacts on optimal production input mixes. Published in AJAE, JEEM, JAEE, JARE, JAAE, Economic Letters, and Energy Economics. Textbook: Microeconomic Theory: Concepts and Connections, Thomson South-Western Publisher, 2005.

Honors: SAEA Outstanding Teaching of a Course, 2008; JARE Outstanding Journal Article for 2007; AAEA Distinguished Graduate Teaching Greater than Ten Years, 2007; AAEA Distinguished Undergraduate Teaching Greater than Ten Years, 1997; Gamma Sigma Delta Teaching Award, 1989; Agricultural Alumni Association Distinguished Faculty Award in Teaching, 1986; D.W. Brooks Faculty Award for Excellence in Teaching, 1983; and College of Agriculture Top Grant Recipient, 1982.

At the end of your term, what changes/new initiatives would you like to have helped create?

Integration of agricultural economics scholarship with other disciplines, provide focused value to membership, and enhance and broaden the SAEA association. This can be accomplished by delineating who are we, what are we generating, and where are we going. Who are we? The increasing integration of agriculture with other sectors (energy, health, natural resources and the environment) yields a blending of our association with members' interest in new areas. The SAEA will respond to this bending by creating value for new faculty and establishing liaisons with private sectors. As one example, emphasis will be placed on interlocking government agencies, private industry, and academics. Such value will be the foundation for an annual SAEA recruitment program. What are we generating? The SAEA can provide membership value as a facilitator to address current and emerging issues in the southeast, nationally, and internationally. Such facilitation will take the form of annual meetings as a grant/funding clearinghouse. Similar to an employment center, the clearinghouse will provide a mechanism design at our meetings to connect grant sponsors with potential recipients. Other such SAEA mechanism designs will simultaneously broaden and enhance our association. Where are we going? The SAEA has a reputation of innovation. This reputation will continue with such initiatives as revamping the JAAE with dedicated issues on current policy trends facing the south and the nation with a possible Science Magazine format for articles. Consider holding annual meetings with other social science associations and providing a catalyst for graduate distance learning courses. This is an exciting and challenging time for agricultural and applied economics and for the association. Working together, we can have the type of association which rises to the challenge.

SAEA DIRECTOR NOMINATIONS

Deacue Fields, III, is an Associate Professor in the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology (DAERS) at Auburn University. He continues to serve as business manager for his family's farm, which raises show steers, replacement heifers, and American Quarter Horses. His background includes: Ph.D., Louisiana State University (2002); M.S., University of Missouri – Columbia (1995); and B.S., Southern University (1993). Internship Coordinator, DAERS, 2003- 2008); Member, DAERS Curriculum Committee, 2004-2008. Subject matter interest: consumer product research, agribusiness management, horticultural economics and marketing, agricultural entrepreneurship.

SAEA Service: Member, Distinguished Extension Program Award Committee, 2008; Member, Selected Paper Committee, 2007; Reviewer for Journal of Agricultural and Applied Economics, 2004 - present; Developer, moderator, and presenter for organized symposia, selected and invited papers sessions, various years, 2002 – 2008. Selected Paper and Poster Session Reviewer, 2005-2007.

AAEA Service: Reviewer for Choices, 2005 - 2007; Developer, moderator and discussant for organized symposia and selected paper sessions, various years, 2002 - 2008; Chair, Committee On the Status of Blacks in Agricultural Economics (COSBAE), 2007; Member, Extension track, 2004-2008. Poster Session Reviewer, 2006.

Other Service: Reviewer for Journal of Food Distribution Research, Agricultural and Resource Economics Review, HortScience Journal, HortTechnology Journal, 2002 – 2008; Review Panel, CSREES National Research Initiative Competitive Grants, 2004 - 2005; Panel Manager, CSREES National Research Initiative Competitive Grants, 2006; Scientific Advisory Board Member, Southeast United Dairy Industry Association, 2004-2008; Charter Member, MALTAG Regional Enterprise Budget Development Committee; Member, Alabama Agribusiness Council, 2003-2008; Member, Alabama Council of Cooperatives, 2003-2008. Member, S-1021 Cooperative Regional Multi-State Research Committee, 2003-2008; Board of Directors (2006 – 2008), Nominating Committee, Chair (2007-2008), Investment Committee (2004-2008), Auburn University Federal Credit Union. Member, Auburn University Student Insurance Committee, 2006-2008; Senior Faculty Advisor, Ag. Ambassadors, 2006; Advisor, Ag Council, 2008.

Awards: Outstanding Intensive Entrepreneurship Trainee, Marion Ewing Kaufman Foundation, 2004; Outstanding Faculty Member Award, College of Agriculture, 2005. Faculty Honoree, Auburn University Camp War Eagle, 2006; Doctoral Scholars Award, Southern Regional Education Board, 2000. Huel D. Perkins Doctoral Fellowship Recipient. 1998; George Washington Carver Fellow, University of Missouri, 1993-1995.

At the end of your term, what changes/new initiatives would you like to have helped create?

A new initiative that I would like to promote relates to creating an environment that promotes and encourages quality integrated multistate collaboration. In the presence shrinking budgets and increased competition for limited extramural funds, it is important that we (members of the association) strategically position ourselves to acquire a substantial share of the competitive resources available. The majority of the main funding sources for our discipline now expect proposals to be interdisciplinary, integrated (teaching, research and extension), and multistate. Often when we see this requirement, we scramble to identify participants from other states and disciplines to “buy-in” on a project without truly developing a quality collaborative relationship. In many cases we develop proposals similar to counterparts in neighboring states and compete against each other. Many times neither project gets funded, and a collaborative effort would have resulted in a more competitive project.

I would like to see an award established for outstanding integrated, multistate projects. The award would recognize projects that form quality collaborative relationships that result in significant impacts. Members of the association would be more aware of the components of a sound collaborative effort. The resulting projects would provide prominent impacts for our public and private constituents within the region. This type of valuable collaboration should lead to increased student and professional involvement in the association.

Jayson Lusk is Professor and Willard Sparks Endowed Chair in the Department of Agricultural Economics at Oklahoma State University. He holds a Ph.D. in Agricultural Economics from Kansas State University (2000) and a B.S. in Food Technology from Texas Tech University (1997) and has previously served on the faculties of Purdue University and Mississippi State University. Lusk conducts research primarily related to consumer behavior and decision making, food marketing and policy, and non-market valuation. Since 2001, Lusk has published more than 70 articles in peer reviewed journals. Lusk recently authored a book on experimental auctions published by Cambridge University Press, which has received acclaim from a recent Nobel Prize winner in Economics. Lusk is also a co-author of an undergraduate textbook on agricultural marketing and price analysis published by Prentice-Hall.

SAEA Service: Reviewer for JAAE, 2001-2008; Organizer, moderator, and discussant for organized symposia, selected and invited papers sessions at annual SAEA meetings, various years, 2000-2008.

AAEA Service: Chair, Food & Agricultural Marketing Policy Section, 2006; Faculty advisor, Graduate Student Section, 2004-2007; Member, Communications and Publications Committee, 2003-2006; Member, Task Force on AAEA Publications, 2005; Member, Nominating Committee, 2006-present; Member, Task Force on Association Outreach, 2007; Associate Editor, American Journal of Agricultural Economics, 2006-present.

Other Service: Associate editor, Journal of Agricultural and Food Industrialization Organization, 2005-Present; Editorial Board member, Agricultural and Resource Economic Review, 2008-present; Director, Western Agricultural Economics Association, 2006-Present

Awards: James A. Whatley Award of Merit for Excellence in Agricultural Research, Division of Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources, Oklahoma State University, 2007; Hall of Fame Horizon Award (Outstanding Alumni), Department of Animal and Food Sciences, Texas Tech University, 2007; Outstanding Published Research Award, Western Agricultural Economics Association, 2007; Outstanding Journal Article, Journal of Agricultural and Resource Economics, 2005; Honorable Mention Outstanding Journal Article, Review of Agricultural Economics, 2005 ; Lusk's scientific works have been cited more than 300 times since 2001 according to the Social Science Citation Index; Lusk was listed as one of the top 10 most productive researchers in agricultural economics graduating from 1987 to 2000 in a recent issue of the American Journal of Agricultural Economics.

At the end of your term, what changes/new initiatives would you like to have helped create?

Virtually all professional associations in agricultural economics are dealing with difficult challenges of declining membership, and the increasingly competitive market for academic journals. The SAEA must strike a difficult balance between maintaining and increasing the quality of its annual meetings and journal, while remaining committed to serving the needs of current and future members by providing networking and professional development opportunities. It is my hope to help the SAEA work with other professional associations in those areas where economies of scale and scope exist, and to encourage the SAEA to provide value to its members through its journal and annual meetings.
