PRESIDENT'S CORNER

The SAEA Executive Committee met June 9 and 10 in Charleston, South Carolina. I am pleased to report that our budget is on target to breakeven this year. Thanks to the hard work of Ken Paxton and Lonnie Vandever, revenue generated at the annual meetings fully covered the meetings expense for the first time in three years. In addition, our expenses connected to producing and distributing the SAEA Newsletter are reduced dramatically with electronic distribution. The JAAE, under John Penson's editorship, is operating smoothly with high quality articles. The acceptance rate is around 23 percent and the average number of days a submitted article is in review is down to 72. The special issue in memory of Henri Theil has been distributed and represents an especially noteworthy addition to our professional literature. Our project to have past issues converted to electronic media has been completed. You can electronically access articles published in the Southern Journal of Agricultural Economics for 1969 through 1992 and articles published in the Journal of Agricultural and Applied Economics for 1993 through 1999. The site address is <http://agecon.lib.umn.edu>. We appreciate the work of Steve Turner to assure that this project came to completion. Under the agreement, new editions will be added annually with a two year lag.

The editorship of the JAAE will change at the end of 2004. Anyone interested in becoming editor of the journal should express a statement of interest to myself or anyone else on the Executive Board. Please see the announcement elsewhere in this newsletter.

Membership continues to be an area of concern. Total membership continues to decline, especially among junior members. Please encourage your colleagues and graduate students to join the SAEA. Graduate student dues are only $10 per year. Because of the costs of paying for returned mail, graduate members should be aware that their issues of the JAAE will only be sent to an academic department address. We will be contacting all academic departments directly concerning efforts to encourage membership growth.

The next annual meetings will be held February 14-18, 2004, in Tulsa Oklahoma. Please note that this is about two weeks later than usual the usual time. Announcements are in this newsletter regarding calls for selected papers, posters, organized symposia, and nominations for the various awards. This year's Selected Papers program is co-chaired by Roderick Rejesus and Jaime Malaga, both at Texas Tech University. Please note that the deadline for submission of paper proposals is Friday, September 12, 2002. Rod and Jaime welcome individuals interested in reviewing articles and/or moderating sessions to contact them as soon as possible. Instructions for contacting them are included in the call for papers later in this Newsletter.

The Organized Symposia program is being coordinated by President-Elect Richard Kilmer at the University of Florida. The Poster Session is chaired by Phillip Kenkel, Oklahoma State University. Please note the call for proposals in this Newsletter issue.

Past-President, Steven Turner is coordinating the awards program. Please note the call for nominations for Awards for Distinguished professional Contributions and the call for nominations for the Lifetime Achievement Award in this Newsletter. Steve is moving to Mississippi State University as Department Head in August. All nominations should be sent to him at Mississippi State.

For the second time in three years, the Southern Agricultural Economics Association will be providing leadership in organizing a general Sunday session for the entire Southern Association of Agricultural Scientists at the Tulsa meetings. Director Michele Marra is organizing a multidisciplinary panel to discuss the pros and cons associated with biotechnology. This promises to be an excellent session and we hope you plan your travel schedule to arrive in Tulsa before the 4:00pm Sunday session.

Have a pleasant summer.

CALL FOR NOMINATIONS FOR EDITOR, JAAE

JAAE editor John Penson's term of office ends in the fall of 2004. The editorship of our journal is critical to the continued success of the SAEA. With this notice, we invite statements of interest for the editorship. The Executive Board will be making a decision this fall and hope to have a new editor appointed in time to attend the February meetings in Tulsa. While the Association makes every effort to cover costs, we understand the position of JAAE editor entails costs for the individual(s) and the host department. However, we have an outstanding professional journal and the professional rewards for serving as editor are substantial. We encourage anyone interested to contact Les Myers at myersl@vt.edu by July 30, 2003. Those interested will be asked to complete a formal proposal for Executive Board evaluation. Questions concerning what is involved may be directed to Les Myers, John Penson or any Executive Board member. Previous editors in reverse chronological order are:

John Penson – Texas A&M (current editor)
Chuck Moss, Jim Seale – University of Florida
Charlie Huang, Mike Wetzstein – University of Georgia
Barry Bobst, Dave Debertin, Angelos Pagoulatos – University of Kentucky
